MIRS INEX MILEOLLAND AND HER PLANCE

The croakers who fear that the suffragette will lose her matrimoulal chance may set their fears at rest, for the engagement is announced of the most obstreperous of suffragettes, Miss. Inex Milholland, who perhaps has done more spectacular and strenuous work in the "votes for women" cause than

The lucky man with sufficient courage to marry this socialistic suffragette is Lindon Bates, Jr., of New York, exassemblyman, author and civil engineer and a recent convert to the "cause." Victory through defeat will be Mr. Bates' slogan, for he does not promis to aid the girl of his heart in all of her nctivities, but he promises not to inter fere in them. A dangerous trip taker by Mr. Bates through Siberia and his book recounting the experience, "The Russian Road to China," published tast winter, completed Miss Milholland's interest in the author. The Russian road led directly to her heart. A resume of Miss Milholland's short career will show just what her husband will be up against. "As a child," said her mother, "Inez was constantly bringing home the most forlors and maimed specimens of femininity." And at Vassar later her socialistic tend-encies quite shocked the conservative faculty, for early in her college cureet she had berself made probation officer. The chapel having been refused the fair Inez as a gathering place for a suffragette meeting, nothing dagated with sixteen of her sworn allies, a meeting took place at midnight in a nearby graveyard, where they listened to burning words from President Incz
